Cassious is a hopelessly romantic college student seeking to find love and companionship with his best friend Jeneis. Jeneis is an emotionally scarred college girl who has outspokenly lost her faith in true love. Cassious is careful to not to spill his true feelings knowing her feelings regarding love and their friendship.

Jeneis expresses her stern opinions of love in one of her college courses and winds up with a special assignment. Jeneis is challenged by her professor to document the opinions of at least 10 of her peers on the question “What is love?” Once she has documented her peers she is then to document her opinion after listening to her peers to see if her idea has changed.

As Jeneis has done her whole life, she depends on Cassious to help her complete her learning and love. Cassious gets ribbed by his friends for following Jeneis around constantly and being her errand boy as she jumps from guy to guy and dismissed Cassious’ obvious feelings.

Cassious finally finds it impossible to hold back his feelings for Jeneis and he confronts her about it. Jeneis rejects Cassious while she is trying to dismiss her own feelings of love for him and cling to her selfish ways. Cassious finds companionship in another woman out of spite for Jeneis’ rejection.

After losing Cassious to another woman and listening to others’ testimonials of love, Jeneis realizes her companionship with Cassious has been the definition of true love the entire time. Jeneis tries to express her feelings to Cassious through her video testimonial risking all shame and embarrassment.

Will Jeneis and Cassious ever find love, or have they missed their opportunity?

Will she be able to help her daughter on her quest for true love?
